Are About The Vedic Dharma.

Is there time?

If not, thanks for listening.

My best wishes and prayers for peace to all.

About Vedic Dharma (The Universal Religion)

- Living per dharma is living sin-free
- Four pillars of dharma
 - Truth, compassion (or mercy), austerity, and cleanliness
- असतो मा सद् गमय ॥ Vedic dharma give maximum emphasis on knowing the truth, and finally knowing the absolute truth (which is an aspect of the Supreme god.)
- Vedic dharma is pro-life, and anti-demoniacs.
- अहिंसा परमो धर्मः । धर्म हिंसा तथैव च ॥

About Vedic Dharma

- To not injure or kill is dharma, but to kill (or keep out of country) the demoniacs or asuras is also dharma.

--This is the reason why Krishna recommended Arjun to fight against Duryodhan and his army and kill them all including Bhishma and Drona whom Arjun loved very much. Why, because they took the side of adharma.

About Vedic Dharma

- A Vedic Dharmi (i. e. a Hindu) can consider the supreme god as a male or female. Actually, as Brahma, god is neither male or female, and still is capable to create (and destroy) innumerable universes.
- Unlike other religions that prescribe just one way to worship god or go to haven, the Vedic dharma provides a number of ways, which are different yoga processes.
- Ultimate destination of all these processes is the same just like you can travel from one city to another in many ways.

About Vedic Dharma

- Vedic dharma tells followers to not force dharma on others, nor to entice non-Hindus into accepting Vedic dharma. Why, because dharma gives maximum freedom of thought, speech, and action (karma); and depending upon one's karma, and by the perfect justice system of God, one advances spiritually towards God, or stays where one is, or falls spiritually.
- Vedic dharma provides complete spiritual science, which is beyond material science. Knowing this spiritual science, e.g. from Bhagavad Gita, one can make a choice how to act or react in any situation. One's karma is what one acts or reacts or even thinks or desires; and karma determines what one will get in future in current or next life.

About Vedic Dharma

- Unlike other religions, the Vedic dharma informs us that we are not the body, but the jiva within the body.
- A jiva is an aatmaa with a bundle of desires, and each aatmaa is qualitatively same as the param-aatmaa (the supreme god).
- Aatmaa is eternal, and that is why a jiva takes another body after death when one body is not habitable for the jiva. But a jiva's next body is determined by God based on the jiva's karma.
- YouTube has many videos describing the experiences of those who somehow remember their past life(s).

About Vedic Dharma

- Any practice of the Vedic dharma is eco-friendly. This cannot be said of other religions.
- Vedic scriptures inform us that Arya or Aryan is not a race at all. Anyone who strives to live per the Vedic dharma is an Aryan.
- Per the Vedic dharma God does not favor one race, or one skin color against another, and God love all living beings equally. Because God is Supreme, God is not jealous of anyone.

About Vedic Dharma

 - Hitler misused Swastika; Vedics use it since millenniums
- Per the Vedic dharma God does not favor one race, or one skin color against another, and
